Electricity sector in Argentina

OverviewHistory of the electricity sectorElectricity supply and demandTransmission and distributionAccess to electricityService qualityResponsibilities in the Electricity SectorRenewable energy resources

Prior to 1991, the electricity sector in Argentina was vertically integrated. The sector experienced a serious crisis in the summers of 1988/1989, primarily due to the lack of maintenance of the country's thermal power plants (50% were unavailable). Shortly after the crisis, the government of Carlos Menem introduced a new legal framework for the electricity sector through Law 24,065, which included the following elements: vertical and horizontal unbundling of generation, transmission and distribution; openi
